Clay City man found guilty of sex crimes against child

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

A Clay City man has been convicted of sexual abuse and attempted rape after a jury decided to believe the child victim in a trial last week. Archie Vires, 52, was found guilty by a Powell County Jury. Based on the nature of the charges Vires will have to serve 85 percent of his sentence.

Vires had been indicted for sexual abuse first degree, sodomy first degree and attempted rape first degree. The indictment alleged that Vires had engaged in those activities with a victim who was nine years old at the time of the offenses. The indictments stated that the crimes took place in June and July of 2011.

Court records indicate that after the evidence was collected and checked an indictment was sought earlier this year. But at trial there was some question as to why it took so long for the victim to tell anyone.

Records and trial accounts indicate that the girl told authorities some eight months after the events, stating she was afraid to come forward. Vires had denied any wrong doing. At one point the defense tried to state that the girl may be lying as part of an ongoing family dispute between the victim's family and Vires' wife, as they are related.

But the victim was quite graphic in her description of the events. She went into detail of what happened and where. Prosecutors also noted that any such claim of her lying to help a dispute made no sense as she had reported the crimes before the dispute arose.

The jury listened as Vires supporters sat on one side of the courtroom and the victim, with a parent, sat alone on the other side. The jury heard testimony most of last Thursday after being chosen and beginning last Wednesday. Last Thursday they were given the case at 2:50 p.m.

The jury came back to the courtroom as they had a question around 3:22 p.m. and returned again at 4:40 p.m. to have a video testimony replayed to them of the victim. That took about an hour, and they went back to deliberating at 5:40 p.m.

The jury returned with the guilty verdicts at 6 p.m. Vires hung his head and appeared to be upset as the verdicts were read. Vires family members wept openly.

The jury listened to more testimony in the sentencing stage and came back quickly with a recommendation of 20 years. All of the counts sentences would run concurrent. Under the law Vires would have to serve 17 years of the sentence.

He was taken into custody and lodged in the Powell County Detention Center. Vires is set for official sentencing on Dec. 17.

Task Force strikes again

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

The Powell County Sheriff's Office Task Force picked up another one. This time they arrested Michael A. Arnett, 70, of Stanton. He was arrested in front of the Morris Creek Church on Tuesday morning based on a warrant.

Detectives Ernie Dudleson and Larry Patterson have been working a case against Arnett since last November. He has been charged with trafficking in a controlled substance third degree. Reports indicate he allegedly sold 60 Xanax pills for $160 from his truck while sitting at Baker's Apartments across from the Mt. View Drive-In back on Nov. 14, 2013.

Officers waited as the investigation is on-going and more arrests could be coming.

Arnett was lodged at the Powell County Detention Center, his bond was not known at press time. His truck, the one officers say he used in the transaction, was confiscated.

Stanton property tax rates to increase back to 1998 level

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

No one likes to hear the word, especially near the holidays. But according to Stanton's city leaders, they really do not have much of a choice except to use the word and raise it – a little.

The word is "tax" and the measure passed after Mayor Dale Allen had to cast the deciding vote. The city's property tax has been basically the same since 1998. That was when the tax rate was actually lowered in Stanton.

"It was lowered back then because the city had more coming in from the payroll tax with about 500 people working inside the city limits," Allen explained. "But since then, I checked with the PVA office and I am paying $18 less on my property tax than I was in 1998. So we need to do something to help build some revenue."

Allen explained that Clay City's property tax is set at .099 percent per $100 of assessed value for property, while Stanton's has been at .085 since Allen took office and even before then. With the rising cost of providing services and the city preparing to build a city hall soon, any revenue generated would be put to good use rather quickly.

"We are talking about raising it maybe 10 cents on $100 of assessed value. That would help to generated between $14,000 and $15,000," Allen said. "That would be a building payment."

Basically the rates would go back to the 1998 rates. "I know people will say, look they get elected and raise the tax," Allen said. "But this has been on the table for a while. We know that the money (revenues) been going down."

Council member Dixie Lockard made the motion to allow the increase and Tommy Mays seconded the motion. Council member Pam McIntosh Tipton joined them on the vote, while council members Linville

The Stanton City Council met in the city office last Thursday due to a trial that was still going on in the main courtroom.

Bellamy, Charlotte Estes and Margarita Arnett voted against the measure. Allen cast the deciding vote to pass the increase. It was only the second time since Allen has been mayor that he has had to cast a vote to break a tie. He just got re-elected to his third term earlier this month.

The council also discussed allowing the city clerks to go to a "no cash payment" setup. Clay City also uses the method where water bills and other payments must be made by credit/visa cards, checks or money orders. There would be no charge if someone used a card, but there would be if they call in and use the card that way.

The council also heard from Stanton Police Chief Kevin Neal about possibly looking at raises for officers.

He said that newer officers are receiving up to $2 more on the hour in some agencies than Stanton officers with "12 to 14 years experience."

"Its not for me, its for them," Neal told the council. "We'd liked to take of them."

Neal also noted that some of the older vehicles for the department, like the 2008

Inmate who failed to return after funeral, back in custody

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

You may run, but sooner or later you cannot hide any longer. Shelly Poe found that out.

Poe, who is no stranger to law enforcement and was part of the latest drug roundup was captured last Saturday after being charged with escape.

According to Powell County Jailer Travis Crabtree, Poe was given a furlough to attend her father's funeral on Friday, Nov. 7. She was to return to the jail, but she failed to do so.

"We'll look for her and I'll get the word out to the media and other (law enforcement) agencies," Crabtree said as he obtained a warrant for second degree escape on Poe last week. "But sooner or later we will catch her."

And so Stanton Police did just that.

Powell County Sheriff's Department Detective Larry Patterson notified other officers that Poe was on Logan Lane last Saturday just after 3 p.m. Stanton Police Sgt. James Watson and Powell County Deputy Mike Kelso responded to the area and went to an apartment where Poe may be located. Patterson was outside the building and as officers went into the apartment, Patterson yelled that she had come out the back and was running. Watson and Kelso caught her as she tried to cross Logan Lane.

According to Watson's arrest report she had "blood shot eyes" and she "could not stop grinding her teeth and could not sit still or stop moving."

Officers searched her pockets and found a clear bag containing a white powder substance. In another pocket they found a "hard plastic box containing two small clear bags with a white substance." The box also reportedly had several small clear bags that were empty. Some of the bags had a "Superman" symbol on them.

She was asked if she had anything else on her and said no. But once inside the Powell County Detention Center she was found to have more drug related items on her.

She was placed under arrest and charged with fleeing and evading police (on foot), public intoxication, possession of a controlled substance first degree and promoting contraband first degree. That goes along with the escape charge she was already facing, as well as indictment charges.

Poe was arrested back on Oct. 21 after she had been indicted for two counts of first degree trafficking in a controlled substance (2 grams meth). She has faced various charges over the years, some also dealing with drugs. She and 30 others were arrested as part of the latest drug round-up.

She is currently being held in the Montgomery County Regional Detention Center.

CRMC is prepared for Ebola virus

Also helping to prepare local health departments

As the nation's strategy to address the Ebola virus continues to evolve, Clark Regional Medical Center and the Clark County Health Department have been collaborating closely to ensure that health care professionals are prepared to effectively care for potential Ebola patients.

According to Cherie Sibley, CEO of Clark Regional Medical Center, the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and state health agencies have provided hospitals with the most up to date education about the virus for staff and physicians, screening criteria to identify anyone who may be infected, and instructions about how to assist with the diagnosis and care of patients who present with symptoms of the virus. "While there are no confirmed or suspected cases of Ebola virus disease in Kentucky, it is important that we be prepared to identify, assist with diagnosis, treat and stop the spread of Ebola virus disease if it presents to our hospital," stated Sibley.

Clark Regional Medical Center has taken the following measures to prepare:

- Triage and admission assessments have been revised to include questions regarding travel to high risk areas, as well as recent contact with people from those areas.
- Signs have been placed at entrances asking anyone who has a fever and has traveled outside the country, or who has had exposure to an international traveler to notify staff.

- Dedicated isolation rooms have been designated for patients who may have been exposed to Ebola and protective gear has been provided for our employees.

Clark Regional Medical Center staff is trained and prepared to manage outbreaks of viruses and infectious diseases, including Ebola. The community can be assured that the hospital is taking the appropriate precautionary measures to keep employees, visitors, and the community safe and to prevent the spread of this virus.

In an effort to evaluate the communities preparedness for responding to an infectious disease like Ebola, a table top exercise was recently held at Clark Regional Medical Center in cooperation with the Clark County Health Department, Winchester and Clark County Fire and EMS, City of Winchester, Kentucky Emergency Management, Clark Emergency Management, Powell County EMS, Powell County Health Department, Regional Preparedness Coordinator and the states Regional Epidemiologist.

The exercise was designed to practice the coordination of communication activities in an Ebola Virus Disease (EVD) scenario among Hospital Infection Control Professionals, Hospital Emergency Preparedness Coordinators, Local/State Public Health Agencies, and Healthcare Coalitions.

"As the Public Health Director it is reassuring to see the key leaders in the community come together to make sure we are prepared in the unlikely event we have to deal with an Ebola case," states Scott Lockard, Clark County Public Health Director. "The leaders of Clark County have a strong history of cooperation and that is exactly what we saw at the tabletop exercise. Clark Regional Medical Center, EMS, Emergency Management, Local Government, and the State and Local Health Departments will all work together to effectively deal with whatever public health threats we face."

The City of Winchester's Mayor Ed Burtner also participated in the exercise and states, "I was impressed with the dedication and commitment of our Clark Regional Medical Center and other public health professionals as they address this very important public health issue. I am convinced they are taking the matter seriously and will do all they can to protect our Community."

Clark Regional Medical Center will continue to work closely with Kentucky Department of Public Health and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) to ensure the hospital is prepared with the appropriate plans to detect, protect and respond should anyone in our community contract or be exposed to the Ebola virus.

Clark Regional Medical Center also offers the following tips for preventing infectious viruses, like EVD. Basic infection control procedures and good hygiene can prevent infection. Just like any other virus, EVD can be prevented by:

- Avoiding contact with people who are sick or display signs and symptoms that indicate illness, including sharing food, cups or eating utensils.
- Washing your hands frequently — or, if soap and water aren't available, using an alcohol-based hand sanitizer with at least 60 percent alcohol.

- Avoiding touching your eyes, nose and mouth with unwashed hands.
- Disinfecting your home and belongings regularly.
- Covering your mouth and nose when coughing or sneezing, using a tissue or your sleeve or elbow (not your hands).

Because Ebola virus has similar symptoms as the flu, an annual flu vaccine can be effective in preventing infection, and is highly recommended. In fact, the CDC recommends that everyone from children age 6 months to adults have an annual flu vaccination.

Here are some important facts about Ebola provided by the CDC:

- It can't be spread by a person before he or she exhibits symptoms.
- It is only spread by direct contact with infected blood or body fluids from a sick person or grossly contaminated objects (like needles).

- It is not spread in the air, it is not spread in water, and it is not spread by mosquitoes or insects. It is not generally spread by food.
  - The incubation period is two to 21 days. Most patients develop symptoms eight to ten days following exposure.
  - Health-care workers, family and friends of Ebola patients are most at risk.
  - Risk can be controlled by isolation of patients and careful attention to use of simple protections like gowns, goggles, masks and gloves.
  - Ebola cannot live long outside the human body. It is easily killed by common sanitizers.
- For links to the most up to date information on the Ebola virus visit our website at www.cdc.gov/ebola.

Dodge Chargers, have seen some better days and it may be time to look at purchasing or leasing new vehicles. He also called that the city "sit down and go across the department's policy and procedure manual, as it needs to work." The current manual was based on another county's and there are references in the policies that do not pertain to Stanton.

The council also heard from Dewey Phelps, a Stanton resident and assistant state fire marshal. Phelps said he lives on East College Avenue and that drivers travel too fast in that area. "I can pull out of my drive and see no one coming and by time I get to the nursing center they are on my tail," he told the council.

Neal stated that he and his officers patrol that area extensively and he agrees some people do travel fast. He will try to step up patrols and the council even discussed placing a flashing speed zone sign in the area or asking the state to conduct another traffic study.

"They have done it before. I've asked for a traffic light at Airport Road and they say there is not enough traffic, but maybe they are looking at the wrong time," Allen said. The area is busiest between 6 a.m. to 8 a.m. and again from 3:30 p.m. to 6 p.m.

The council also accepted the 2012-13 audit report. They are now awaiting the latest report for the latest fiscal year, 2013-2014. When that is completed, which could be in January, the city will finally be caught up. For over six years the city was behind in audit reports which leaders blamed on previous administrations.

Jennifer Creech

Creech to make official visit to Hawaii

So what are you doing this cold weekend? A Powell County cheerleader, her mom and some friends will be basking in the warmth of the Hawaiian sun.

This Thursday (Nov. 20) Jennifer Morgan Creech, a senior at Powell County High School, travels to Hawaii on an official visit for their co-ed cheerleading team. Jennifer met head coach Mike Baker this summer and he expressed interest in her possibly joining their team next year at the University of Hawaii where they offer a full scholarship to their cheerleading members.

Jennifer is also a Beta Club member, a member off Future Business Leaders of America, a member of fellow-ship of Christian Athletes, on the honor roll, a 4.0 student, 3rd runner up for Miss Powell County and a member of the non-competition Varsity cheerleading team at Powell County High school.

Jennifer has also been invited to tryout for the University of Kentucky in May, as tryouts are by invitation only. She has been invited to attend the University of Kentucky vs. University of North Carolina game on Dec. 13 to experience a day in the life of a UK cheerleader.

The past two years have been a lot of training with UK current and former cheer leaders along with joining the Matrix Allstars this year. Along the way somethings had to take a back seat in order for her to get to where she is now. She is thankful for everyone's help along the way and hopes in the end everyone will be proud of her accomplishments. We wish her safe travels and good luck in Hawaii.

Traveling with her will be her mom Michelle Creech, Chazney Crowe and Austin Mullins.

Thanksgiving Time ‘Shine like the stars’

By DR. GLENN
MOLLETTE
Guest Columnist

Surely all of us have something to give thanks for.

We all have problems, aches and things that we desire.

All of us have felt like we missed out on something. Everybody has a regret or two. Most of us have grumbled a bit about most everything. In the midst of it all surely we can find some way to give thanks.

A thankful spirit eases the spirit. Surely it's good for blood pressure, chest pains, anxiety and a better night's sleep. We all have worries. We stress out about life even if the problems are small. While many have big problems others' problems are small in comparison.

Thousands of Americans are homeless. We are having temperatures in the low twenties in November. Many homeless people who I have personally talked to deal with not knowing where they will sleep or what they will eat. Many have small tents, or even try to sleep on park benches. I can't imagine.

About twenty years ago I was only about twelve months into buying a house and lost my job. The house payment was hefty plus I had two car payments, a very sick wife and two small boys. We were living paycheck to paycheck and suddenly I was on the bottom, terrified and desperate to quickly to find a job. I learned at that time that the toughest time to find a job is when you desperately need one. I drove everywhere in search of a job. Prospective employers were kind suggesting that maybe later down the road they might have an opportunity. I needed something immediately. There was almost never a moment that I slept at night.

After becoming unemployed, I also felt friendless. For years prior I thought I had zillions of friends. Suddenly it seemed as if no one knew me. I felt as if I had been dropped into a bottomless chasm and nobody cared.

Suddenly I came up with a solution. I would end my life. Briefly I felt uplifted and hopeful. This would be the way out of what seemed to be no way out. I lived in a nice neighborhood at the time and decided to take a walk at 1:00 AM. The sky was clear and it appeared as if every star was shining that night. It was one of those nights when I felt like I could touch each star. As I walked the neighborhood that late summer evening I was very alone without the sound of cars or children playing. It was dead silent. I could hear my heart beating in the quiet of the night. I started thinking, "I have a wonderful family who needs me. I have to be here for them. Taking my life would be a horrific act of selfishness."

I went back home and got on my knees and asked God to lead me and help me. If I ever needed a miracle from God it was then. I told God I would do anything, go anywhere.

About two weeks later a man from Indiana called me and said "Glenn, would you be interested in moving to Indiana?" Quietly I thought to myself, God, anything but Indiana! Our family pulled up, moved and it ended up being the most empowering twenty years of my life. God took care of our family in an incredible way.

Looking back twenty years ago I felt like we were just a month or two away from being homeless. It was a frightening feeling. I am sad for the thousands of Americans who do not have a place to sleep. I try to do what I can yet never feel like it's enough.

I am so grateful. I'm grateful for a warm house and comfortable bed. I'm thankful for food to eat and work that I love to do. I'm thankful for my loving wife, family and so much more.

Maybe this Thanksgiving you are having trouble being thankful. Maybe your life is in pain and you are spiraling downward into a dark chasm. My hope for you is that one night you might see the stars in their entire splendor and that your life will soon shine among them full of thanksgiving.

Senate stumbles again on Keystone XL

By MICHAEL
Guest Columnist

Yet again, policymakers have undermined America's energy renaissance. The Obama administration just announced that it will continue to delay its decision on the Keystone pipeline until after the midterm elections. The pipeline would connect Canadian oil sources to American refineries and create thousands of new American jobs in the process.

Full construction of Keystone would strengthen America's economy, further key geopolitical goals, and -- despite the unhinged handwringing from green extremists -- significantly benefit the environment. The Senate needs to stand up to these unreasonable Luddites and approve the pipeline once and for all.

Keystone would increase our Canadian energy imports and, consequently, spur employment.

According to a recent State Department report, the construction phase of Keystone alone would create 42,000 new jobs and would indirectly generate another 100,000 positions in support industries like food and transportation. All told, the American energy sector directly supports over 9 million jobs--and that number is growing every year.

Equally importantly, building Keystone would spur expansion of U.S. natural gas production. Our excess natural gas could then go to our European allies, who could wean themselves off Russian imports and deprive the Kremlin of one of its favorite diplomatic daggers.

During the recent invasion of Ukraine, for example, Russia threatened Europe with higher gas prices if it hampered its occupation of Crimea. Already, the price for gas in Ukraine has risen by 80 percent thanks to strategic price gouging from the Russian gas company Gazprom.

Bolstering American natural gas production would undercut Russia's gas sales and reduce Putin's ability to bully others in his region. But at present, of the dozens of proposed export terminals across the United States, just one has actually received full approval and been built.

The pretense for imposing the blockade to Keystone's approval is a concern for its environmental impacts. Critics argue that increasing crude oil imports is counterproductive to the Obama administration's sworn goal of cutting down national carbon emissions.

The Canadian energy deposits, however, are going to be developed regardless of whether Keystone is built. A January report from the State Department points out that Keystone delays "have led to growing volumes of crude [being] shipped by rail."

And this method of transport is much more emissions-heavy than a pipeline.

Meanwhile, claims that the pipeline itself would dramatically increase emissions are baseless. That same State Department analysis concluded that Keystone construction would have a negligible impact on carbon emissions.

By expanding our natural gas production, Keystone could actually help lower emissions over the long run. Gas releases about half the emissions of coal. Already, increased natural gas production has decreased American emissions by 10 percent between 2005 and 2012. Moving our economy even farther away from coal and toward gas can further reduce emissions.

Given these facts, green activist opposition to this pipeline seems more about grandstanding than helping the environment.

Keystone needs to be rescued from such nonsensical drama now that over four years of studies and analysis support its creation. Its full construction would stir rapid economic growth and improve our geopolitical positioning. Failure to build Keystone would ultimately lead to more acute environmental degradation and higher emission rates associated with alternative means of energy transportation.

We are Americans. We used to build things in this country. We can do so again if the Senate approves the permit for Keystone and allow us to make it happen.

Foothills is participating in the GoodGiving Guide Challenge for 1st time

Foothills will be participating in the GoodGiving Guide Challenge for the first time this year!

The GoodGiving Challenge is an online giving campaign designed to engage the entire community and to make charitable giving easy and fun. In addition to receiving contributions from donors, nonprofits also compete for hundreds of thousands of dollars in grant prizes and match dollars made possible by Blue Grass Community Foundation and dozens of public and private partners.

The Challenge runs through Friday, Dec. 12 at 11:59 pm.

Foothills is proudly sponsored in the challenge by a $500 matching grant from Baptist Health Richmond.

Funds raised through the challenge will help Foothills continue to combat poverty. As a community action agency, we embrace a philosophy of needs-based strategies and family-based services leading to family self-sufficiency and economic self-reliance.

To help us compete for cash and prizes, we are asking friends and supporters like you to donate at least $25 each to us via BGives.org anytime during the challenge. Beginning November 3 you can directly donate to our GoodGiving page at BGives.org/kyriverfoothills.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Reader thankful for the care and hard work of our EMTs and emergency personnel

Dear Editor,

On March 29, 2014, my daughter had a life threatening reaction to her new blood pressure medicine. While attempting to transport her to CRMC I realized the reaction was too severe and was compromising her airway. I pulled over at DQ in Stanton after calling for help.

Dispatch was calm, kind, and professional. EMTs responded immediately. We could not have asked to be treated any better. I am sorry that I didn't get the names of the male and female responders. They were very efficient and performed their jobs admirably. Also, a very kind police officer named Traugett was nearby and at my car by the time the door opened, willing to help!

You never know what our EMT service means to you until you need them. We thank all of these kind individuals from the bottom of our hearts and appreciate everything they did to help us have a good outcome.

Clark Regional Medical joins forces with UK Health Care

Will provide expanded heart, cancer care

In a press conference held last Thursday, Clark Regional Medical Center (CRMC) announced it has joined forces with UK HealthCare to provide an even higher standard of care for patients with heart disease or cancer. CRMC is now an official affiliate in the UK Gill Heart Institute Affiliate Network and also has entered into a formal collaboration with the UK Markey Cancer Center to develop its oncology service line.

"We are excited about expanding our outpatient services in collaboration with UK HealthCare. This allows us to offer quality heart care with convenience of location to our community and the surrounding areas," Cherie Sibley, chief executive officer of CRMC said. "Clark Regional Medical Center's mission is to make our community healthier, and clinical affiliations between our community hospital and a regional tertiary provider enable us to advance our mission even further."

The collaboration between CRMC and the Gill Heart Institute will improve access to tools for the diagnosis and treatment of cardiovascular diseases, according to Dr. Rick McClure, director of the Gill Heart Network of affiliates and health care partners.

"What started as a conversation about how to provide the highest quality cardiovascular care locally has transformed into a healthy collaboration between these institutions," Dr. McClure said. "Quality cardiovascular care – available in close proximity to the patients we serve – is a critical need in the region, and the Gill Heart Institute is proud to work with CRMC to help provide that."

In addition to high rates of cardiac health problems, Eastern Kentucky also faces some of the highest rates of cancer incidence and mortality in the nation. By establishing a new oncology service in Winchester, CRMC is demonstrating its commitment to providing top-notch care for its cancer patients. The UK Markey Cancer Center -- one of only 68 medical centers in the country to earn a prestigious National Cancer Institute designation -- is assisting Clark Regional Medical Center in establishing its new oncology program, which will be grounded in Markey's policies and standards.

"We are eager to work with Clark Regional in building a strong oncology program," said Dr. Timothy Mullett, director of the UK Markey Cancer Center Affiliate Network. "Our state unfortunately ranks at the top in terms of cancer incidence and mortality, but by working together with hospitals across the state, we have the potential to make a serious impact on cancer prevention and care."

Dr. Michael Karpf, UK Executive Vice President for Health Affairs, emphasized that CRMC's new relationships with UK HealthCare are in the best interest of patients and their families.

"It has long been our goal to be Kentucky's resource for highly complex quaternary care, so that patients don't have to go out of state for the best treatments available. But it makes the most sense for those same patients to be cared for locally whenever possible," Karpf said. "These new relationships with Clark Regional Medical Center make this a reality for the people of Clark and surrounding counties."

and oncology providers will remain the same with these affiliations. Dr. Charles Salters Jr., will continue to see patients in his office at Clark Cardiology and Dr. Stephen Anderson is accepting new patients in his clinic at Clark Clinic Oncology. Both clinics are located at 225 Hospital Drive in Winchester.

The Markey Cancer Center was founded in 1983 and is a dedicated matrix cancer center established as an integral part of the University of Kentucky and the UK HealthCare enterprise.

In July 2013, Markey was designated by the National Cancer Institute (NCI) to receive research funding and many other opportunities available only to the nation's best cancer centers. Markey is the only NCI-designated center in Kentucky and one of only 68 in the country.

The clinical programs and services of the Markey Cancer Center are integrated with the UK Albert B. Chandler Hospital. Markey's cancer specialty teams work together with UK Chandler Hospital departments and divisions to provide primary patient care and support services as well as advanced specialty care with applicable clinical trials. All diagnostic services, clinical and pathology laboratories, operating rooms, emergent and intensive care, and radiation therapy services are also provided to cancer patients through UK Chandler Hospital.

Founded in 1997, the Linda and Jack Gill Heart Institute at the University of Kentucky is recognized as a leader in research and clinical treatment of cardiovascular disease, including heart failure, heart transplants, valve replacement and other interventional therapies, and state-of-the-art cardiovascular imaging. Physicians at the Gill saw more than 15,000 outpatients last year and completed more than 25,000 image studies. There are 10 members of the Gill Affiliate Network, which provides cardiology services and expertise to local hospitals in Kentucky and West Virginia.

From the Centers for Disease Control:

Heart disease is the leading cause of death for both men and women.

In 2008, more than 616,000 Americans died of heart disease. Almost one in every four deaths in the US is caused by heart disease.

Cardiovascular disease is also the #1 cause of death in Kentucky. Kentucky has the 9th highest death rate from CV disease in the US.

School board hears how elementary schools performed on tests, take care of PCHS construction business

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

The Powell County School Board met again last week, the first of two regular monthly meetings that are scheduled. The meeting was short on business, but long on content as the board members got to hear from the elementary schools about their test score results.

The board heard from Suzanne Meadows (Clay City principal), G.G. Simon (Bowen principal) and James Crase (Stanton principal) as they used video and slideshow technology to break down their school's numbers when it came to the recently released test scores. Each school did rather well this time and showed vast improvement, but all three principals made it clear that they were not ready to stop and wanted to improve even more.

The highlights of the over one hour long presentation was that at Bowen there were no third grade students who scored as a novice, which is quite an accomplishment. At Clay City they had improved so much that they now rank 195 out of 720 elementary schools in Kentucky. At Stanton, the over all jump from last year's marks to this years scores with the bat distraction and personal issues had Crase praising the superintendent, board members, central office, but most importantly the teachers and staff at Stanton Elementary.

"We couldn't have done it without them," he added.

After the presentation, the board approved several items related to the high school's addition and renovation projects. That included a scheduled payment to Marilla Design & Construction in the amount of $90,561.62. It also included a change order request eliminating chain link fence that would have been 70 feet long and six feet tall between the high school and middle school. There will be an eight foot fence. The change decreased the amount by $1,200.

The board also approved the final payment on the new bleachers in the gym, which was $79,990. They also approved two final payments for stone being used in the parking lots reconstruction. They were for $12,000 and $47,000.

The board also approved the PCHS Class of 2015 Senior Trip. The seniors will be going to Savannah, Georgia. The trip was in a little bit of trouble as only eight students had signed up by the day before the down payments were due. However, on the day the payments were due the trip now has 43 students registered to go. The trip is scheduled for May 5-8.

The board also approved an overnight trip for the Powell County X-treme Team to travel to Indianapolis to perform at half-time of an Indiana Pacers game at Lucas Oil Arena. The team is made up of boys from preschool to fifth grade displaying basketball dribbling and passing skills. They have performed for professional and college teams before. The trip will be April 3-5, during the Final Four weekend also held at Lucas Oil Arena.

Student Nominations sought for Eco-Art Contest to recognize high school artists

It's that time of year again. The Kentucky Department for Environmental Protection (DEP) is soliciting nominations for the 2014-15 Eco-Art Contest. The contest, which is in its sixth year, provides an opportunity for students to gain statewide recognition for their artwork as it relates to Kentucky's environment. Used as a tool for environmental education, art supports DEP's mission to protect Kentucky's environment.

Multiple awards will be presented to eligible Kentucky high school students who create art using the contest themes or categories of conservation, pollution prevention and environmental protection. Students may submit artwork using the media types of drawing/painting/print, mixed media, sculpture and photographs, with one winner for each submitted art type within each category.

"We are calling for eligible high school students to use their creativity to explore their thoughts, feelings and ideas about the environment around them through their artwork and submit it to the Eco-Art Contest. Through their art, these students, the future leaders of Kentucky, can help inspire and educate others about Kentucky's environment," said R. Bruce Scott, DEP commissioner.

Artwork from previous years' contest winners is displayed in the DEP Training Center in Frankfort, where it has been viewed by hundreds of visitors. Winning artwork and the artists from the 2013-14 contest may be seen at <http://tinyurl.com/mdgvb8t>. Contest nominations are being accepted until midnight Feb. 27, 2015. All nominations must be sent via email only to envhelp@ky.gov. A digital picture of each artwork nomination must accompany each form submitted. Eligible students include all students enrolled in Kentucky public and private high schools for the 2014-15 academic year. Winners will be notified in March, and winning entries will be displayed in the DEP Training Center at 300 Fair Oaks Lane.

For more information about the Eco-Art Contest and to access a nomination form, visit <http://dca.ky.gov/LGGS/Pages/ecoart.aspx> or call the Division of Compliance Assistance toll-free at 800-926-8111.

Pregnant women urged to get flu shot

Pregnancy can increase the risk for complications from influenza (flu), such as pneumonia, making it even more important for expectant mothers to get a flu vaccination.

In fact, pregnant women are more likely to be hospitalized from complications of the flu than non-pregnant women of the same age. For this reason, as well as other health concerns, officials from the Kentucky Department for Public Health (DPH) urge pregnant women to be immunized against the flu before the upcoming holidays and before onset of the peak flu season, which typically occurs in Kentucky in February or March.

“Pregnancy changes the mother’s immune system, as well as affecting her heart and lungs,” said Dr. Stephanie Mayfield, commissioner of DPH. “These changes may place pregnant women at increased risk for complications from the flu as well as hospitalizations and even death. Contracting the flu virus during pregnancy may also cause an increase in serious problems for their unborn baby, including premature labor and delivery.”

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention’s Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices (ACIP) and the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists recommend that women who are or become pregnant during the flu season should receive an inactivated flu vaccine.

It can be given to pregnant women at any point during their pregnancy.

“Leading health officials agree that the flu vaccine is safe for pregnant women at all stages of pregnancy and for breastfeeding mothers,” Dr. Mayfield said. “The Kentucky Department for Public Health urges all pregnant women to get vaccinated against the flu.”

Immunizing the mother during pregnancy also has the added benefit of protecting her newborn. Immune antibodies are passed across the placenta before delivery, which could help to protect the infant during the first months after delivery, as the vaccine is not recommended for infants younger than six months of age.

“Vaccinating pregnant women protects mothers, their unborn babies and their babies after birth,” said Dr. Mayfield. “Vaccination of the mother and all other household contacts before birth is the most effective measure to prevent flu infection in infants less than six months old.”

Infection with the flu virus can cause fever, headache, cough, sore throat, runny nose, sneezing and body aches. Flu is a very contagious disease caused by the influenza virus, which spreads from person to person through contact with infected nasal and oral secretions. While vaccine supplies are expected to be ample this season, DPH advises individuals to call ahead to check with their health care provider, local health department or pharmacy about the availability of flu vaccine.

More information on flu can be found at <http://healthalerts.ky.gov>.

Check with the health department or your doctor about flu vaccines.

PCHS Staff Spotlight:

Sarah Asalon

The PCHS Staff Spotlight of the Week is Mrs. Sarah Asalon.

Mrs. Asalon has been teaching at PCHS for the past 2 years and she currently teaches English 2, English 4, and AP Literature. Sarah graduated from ECU in 2012 with a BA in English Education and a minor in Comparative Humanities. She graduated from ECU with her MA in Special Education- LBD in 2014.

Mrs. Asalon's extra-curricular activities include mentoring the Creative Writing Club and being a junior class sponsor. In her spare time, Mrs. Asalon enjoys reading and spending quality time with her family and friends.

The thing that Mrs. Asalon enjoys most about teaching at PCHS is getting to know her students.

Sarah says that each class she teaches is full of different types of people, so it is always fun to see what adventures will arise every day. She enjoys seeing how each student learns and she loves to watch them grow throughout the year. Mrs. Asalon feels excited to see her students succeed.

PCHS Student of the Week

Zach Skidmore is this week's PTO Student of the Week at Powell County High School. He is the son of Rick and Martina Skidmore of Jeffersonville.

Zach is a junior and is a three-year member of the Pirate football and baseball teams. His favorite class at PCHS is Jessica Neal's Medical Math class because "she's the best aunt ever." Zach was nominated for PTO Student of the Week by his English teacher, Gretchen Brewer.

When asked what makes him unique, Zach replied, "I get along with everyone and me gusta bailar entre las estrellas."

In the future, Zach plans to attend Eastern Kentucky University and become a physical therapist.

Student of the Week is a program sponsored by the PTO and recognizes students who are role models in the areas of study, effort, cooperation, and attitude.

Zach Skidmore

Other students nominated Kennon, Dylan Oaks, and this week include Jim Baker, Summer Hatton, Taylor Tori Townsend.

#FinishStrongKY: Weekly Campaign Results

Preliminary statistics indicate that six people died on Kentucky roadways from Monday, Nov. 10 through Sunday, Nov. 16, 2014. During the same reporting period, KSP accounted for 496 seat belt citations, 112 aggressive driving citations, 40 distracted driving citations and 90 DUI arrests.

In an effort to reduce highway fatalities, KSP is asking Kentuckian's to 'Finish Strong' in 2014 by adhering to safe driving procedures including wearing seat belts, reducing speed, refraining from distractions and never driving impaired. Kentucky is currently at its lowest highway fatality rate in nearly fifty years.

The #FinishStrongKY project began November 1, 2014 with a data driven strategy that places enforcement details in high crash zones where fatalities have occurred. The effort will continue through the holidays.

KSP is partnering with the Kentucky Office of Highway Safety and the Federal Highway Administration to roll out the #FinishStrongKY media blitz. The agencies will utilize social media platforms to blast out uniform traffic safety messaging with the hashtag FinishStrongKY.

Citizens can contribute to highway safety by reporting erratic drivers to the Kentucky State Police toll-free at 1-800-222-5555. Callers will remain anonymous and should give a description of the vehicle, location, direction of travel and license number if possible.

Crit Luallen sworn in as 56th Lieutenant Governor of KY

Former state auditor takes over for Abramson as he heads to WH

Affirming to uphold the Kentucky Constitution and pledging that she had never fought a duel, Crit Luallen, of Frankfort, was sworn in today as Kentucky's 56th Lieutenant Governor of Kentucky in a private ceremony.

Gov. Steve Beshear appointed Lt. Gov. Luallen to the office after former Lt. Gov. Jerry Abramson resigned his post for a position with the White House.

Lt. Gov. Luallen was sworn in by John S. Palmore, former chief justice of the Kentucky Supreme Court. The chief justice and his wife, Carol, hosted the private swearing-in at their home in Franklin County.

The Palmores' home, Innesfail, was built in 1791 by Lt. Gov. Luallen's ancestor Judge Harry Innes, the first federal judge in Kentucky. His daughter, Maria Knox Innes, was born in the home and later married Kentucky Gov. John J. Crittenden. Lt. Gov. Luallen is the great-great-great-granddaughter of the Gov. and Mrs. Crittenden and named for him.

"I am deeply honored Judge Palmore agreed to administer the oath of office. He and Carol are dear friends and have made such valuable contributions to the Commonwealth," Lt. Gov. Luallen said. "I'm overwhelmed by the support and encouragement I have received from all across Kentucky on my appointment as lieutenant governor. Gov. Beshear has given me a remarkable opportunity, one that allows me to continue to serve Kentucky and offer my experience and perspective to the Governor over the remainder of the administration."

Gov. Beshear and First Lady Jane Beshear attended the swearing-in.

"Crit will be a strong fighter for this administration's priorities," Gov. Beshear said. "I look forward to my partnership with her over the next year to further energize and elevate Kentucky."

A public swearing-in for Lt. Gov. Luallen will be held Friday, Nov. 14, at 2:30 p.m. in the State Capitol Rotunda.

Lt. Gov. Luallen is a former state auditor of public accounts who has decades of experience in Kentucky's executive branch, including stints as state budget director, secretary of the Governor's Executive Cabinet, secretary of the Finance and Administration Cabinet and secretary of the Tourism Cabinet.

KDA is looking for posters, essays and digital images on ‘Growing the Next Generation of Farmers’

"Kentucky Agriculture: Growing the Next Generation of Farmers" is the theme of the Kentucky Department of Agriculture's 2015 Poster and Essay Contest.

"Kentucky's young people are our future farmers, consumers, and citizens," Agriculture Commissioner James Comer said. "It's important for them to know where their food comes from and understand the effort, skill, and care it takes to produce it. This contest helps raise awareness of agriculture's important role in our everyday lives, and it may even inspire some participating students to join the next generation of farmers."

Students are asked to submit either a poster, an essay, or a digital image based on the contest theme. Statewide poster and essay winners from each grade, kindergarten through 12th, will be chosen, and an overall digital winner will be selected. Cash prizes will be presented to the winners in March at the Kentucky Agriculture Day Celebration, and their work will be displayed at next summer's Kentucky State Fair.

Entries must be postmarked no later than Jan. 27. A completed entry form must be taped or glued to the back of each entry. The name of the teacher and school must accompany each entry. Winners will be notified on Feb. 20.

The contest is conducted by the Kentucky Department of Agriculture in partnership with Kentucky Agriculture and Environment in the Classroom Inc.

For more information, including complete contest rules and entry forms, go to www.kyagr.com/agcontest or contact Agriculture Education Coordinator Jordan L. Spalding at (502) 782-4125 or jordan.spalding@ky.gov.

The Goodwin Brothers, hired by Clay City, helped to prevent more bottoming out of vehicles as they filled in the huge dip between the Whitaker Bank in Clay City and Seventh Avenue. The cost to the city was $4,900. The drivers of the area thank you, especially here at the Times.

Police say a Stanton man ran a red light at the intersection of Main Street and College Avenue last Friday afternoon and that sent a Stanton woman to the hospital. Officers say that Brian Daniels was driving the small compact car sitting next to the cruisers and ran the light. He was struck by Deborah Russell's car (closest to the camera) Russell was taken to a local hospital to be treated for unspecified injuries. Daniels was reportedly arrested.

THANK YOU!

I would like to express my deepest gratitude to the people of Powell County. I'm extremely thankful for the votes that I received in last week's election for Family Court Judge. I would like to thank my opponent, Hon. Samuel Bruce Herald for running his campaign with integrity, and I wish him the best of luck in his future endeavors.

I am blessed with a wonderful family and many friends, and I especially thank each of them for their faithful support and assistance. My family and I tried to make a personal contact with each and every voter in all three counties. I want everyone to know that I sincerely appreciate their support and all of their efforts on my behalf.

Sincerely,
Hon. Judge Larry Miller

What to do with that leftover turkey

PAM DOOLEY
County Home Ec. Agent

I have heard many people commenting that they are already starting their Thanksgiving celebrations. The holidays are quickly approaching, and with them, the season of great eating. Soon, you'll have more turkey and dressing that you will know what to do with.

It's a great idea to save your Thanksgiving leftovers, as it stretches your holiday food dollars and provides quick meals for your family. Leftovers must be stored and reheated safely to prevent foodborne illnesses.

Follow these tips to ensure your leftovers are safe to eat:

- Refrigerate leftovers within two hours of the food sitting at room temperature. Bacteria grow best at temperatures between 40 and 140 degrees F. Use an appliance thermometer to make sure your refrigerator is set below 40 degrees.

- For quicker cooling, divide leftovers into smaller portions in shallow containers. Place the hot food directly into the refrigerator.

- Once you are ready to eat your leftovers, reheat them so the internal temperature of the food reaches 165 degrees F. check the temperature with a food thermometer. Safely reheat soups, sauces and gravies by bringing them to a boil.

- When reheating in a microwave, make sure there are no cold spots in the food where bacteria could survive. Stir and rotate food for even heating.

- Eat or freeze any remaining leftovers within three to four days. Consume or freeze gravy within two days.

You can prepare many delicious leftovers from your Thanksgiving meal. Here's a recipe suggestion:

Leftover Thanksgiving Casserole

Servings: 6

1 package of stuffing mix (6 ounces)

2 ½ cups cubed, cooked turkey or chicken

2 cups frozen cut green beans, thawed or 1 can

(14.5 ounces) vegetable of your choice

1 jar (12 ounces) turkey gravy or 1 can cream of chicken soup

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F.

Prepare stuffing mix according to package directions. Transfer to a greased 2-quart casserole dish.

Top with turkey, green beans and gravy.

Cover and bake for 30-35 minutes or until heated through, or microwave 10-12 minutes on high.

Per Serving: Calories 260; Protein 21g; Carbohydrates 20g; Total fat 10g;

Cholesterol 45mg; Sodium 730mg

Kentucky River Foothills joins Kroger Community Reward Program

Kentucky River Foothills Development Council, Inc. (KRFDC) is now participating in the Kroger Community Rewards program, which is tied directly into your Kroger Plus Card. Every time you shop at Kroger, KRFDC gets a donation! In order to participate each shopper must register their card and indicate KRFDC as their charity of choice. The funds that we receive will be applied to the general fund to offset operating costs. With this program purchases will not count until you register your Kroger Plus Card. You will not lose any discounts or gas points.

PROGRAM: (1) Simply register online at Kroger Community Rewards. (2) Either SIGN IN if you currently have an online account or CREATE AN ACCOUNT if you have not already done so. Have your Kroger Plus Card handy and register your card with Kentucky River Foothills Development Council, Inc. Select NON-PROFIT ORGANIZATION # 59484. If you do not yet have a Kroger Plus Card, they are available at any Kroger Customer Service Desk. (3) Under Community Rewards, enter NPO # 59484. Select from the list and click on CONFIRM. You will see Kentucky River Foothills Development Council, Inc. name on your page. You will be taken to a new screen. At the top it should say "Your enrollment in the Community Rewards Program has been updated. Thank you for participating!" You must swipe your registered Kroger Plus Card or use the phone number that is registered to your Kroger Plus Card when shopping for each purchase to count toward us. If you normally use your phone number at the register, call 1-800-576-4377 and select the options needed to get your Kroger Plus Card number. REMEMBER, purchases will not count for Kentucky River Foothills Development Council, Inc. until you register your Kroger Plus Card online.

For more information about KRFDC, please contact Karen Atkins, Public Information & Projects Director, at 859-624-2046 ext. 217 or Karen@foothillscap.org. If you do not have internet access, or encounter any problem enrolling, call Karen at the number above.

Annual eye exams especially important for diabetics, early detection

November is National Diabetes Awareness Month. That's why the Kentucky Optometric Association is reminding people that an annual eye exam is important for detecting eye diseases that diabetics are more likely to develop.

Diabetes interferes with the body's ability to use and store sugar, which can cause damage throughout the body, including the eyes. Over time, diabetes affects the circulation system of the retina, which is the light-sensitive lining at the back of the eye.

With an estimated 10 percent of Kentuckians having diabetes, regular dilated eye exams are critical to prevent vision loss, according to Dr. Joseph Cory Bastin, an optometrist in Hopkinsville, Ky.

"All too often, eye problems show no symptoms until they are in an advanced stage, and that's why we recommend that people with diabetes in particular have an eye examination by a doctor of optometry at least once a year," Bastin said. "When the eyes are dilated, an eye doctor is able to examine the retina for signs of diabetic eye disease and prescribe a course of treatment to help preserve an individual's sight."

People with diabetes at greater risk for eye, vision disorders

People with diabetes are at a significantly higher risk for developing eye diseases including glaucoma, cataracts and diabetic retinopathy, one of the most serious sight-threatening complications of diabetes.

Diabetics are 40 percent more likely to suffer from glaucoma than people without diabetes and 60 percent more likely to get cataracts. People with diabetes also tend to get cataracts at a younger age and have them progress faster.

Diabetic retinopathy is a condition that causes progressive damage to the retina. Damage to the tiny blood vessels that nourish the retina causes swelling of retinal tissue and clouding of vision. If left untreated, diabetic retinopathy may lead to blindness.

Since early warning signs of diabetic eye and vision disorders are often subtle or undetected, the Kentucky Optometric Association recommends that high-risk individuals look for initial signs and contact a doctor of optometry if any of the following symptoms are present:

Sudden blurred or double vision

Trouble reading or focusing on near-work

Eye pain or pressure

A noticeable aura or dark ring around lights or illuminated objects

Visible dark spots in vision or images of flashing lights "There also are several things people can do to help prevent or slow the development of diabetic eye disease, including eating a healthy diet that includes Omega 3s, fresh fruits and vegetables; exercising regularly, controlling high blood pressure, and avoiding alcohol and smoking," Bastin said.

Encouraging word: We owe a debt

Howard Coop
Guest Columnist

Three hundred ninety four years ago, the MAYFLOWER, after a stormy voyage across the Atlantic, anchored in what is now Provincetown Harbor at the northern tip of Cape Cod. That was a great distance north of the Virginia Colony, its original destination.

One hundred one Pilgrims who were fleeing religious persecution in England were aboard the MAYFLOWER. Recognizing that they were out of English territory, those Pilgrims decided that they “would use their own liberty; for none had the power to command them.”

That decision led to the Mayflower Compact that was signed onboard the MAYFLOWER on November 11, 1620. Since the Julian calendar was the official calendar of England until 1752 when the Gregorian calendar was adopted there was a difference of 10 days in the two calendars, so the date of the signing, according to today’s calendar, was November 21, 1620.

The Mayflower Compact is a short document. “We, whose names are underwritten,...solemnly and mutually, in the presence of God, and one another, covenant and combine ourselves together into a civil body politic.” That union was for a purpose: “For our better ordering, and preservation and furtherance of the ends aforesaid; and by virtue hereof to enact, constitute, and frame such just and equal laws, ordinances, acts, constitutions, and offices, from time to time, as shall be thought most meet and convenient for the general good of the colony; unto which we promise all due submission and obedience.” This action was undertaken “for the glory of God, and advancement of the Christian faith.”

That document, consisting of 195 words, was not a constitution, but it was the first governing document of the Plymouth Colony. Charles Francis Potter called it “one of the most important documents not only of American history but of the long struggle of mankind toward free institutions.”

The influence of the document is significant. “We, whose names are underwritten” became “We the people” to frame the constitution of the United States, and the desire of the pilgrims to escape religious persecution found expression in the first article of the Bill of Rights, the first amendment to the Constitution. That article emphatically says, “Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof.”

We owe a tremendous debt to those Pilgrims.

 MASTER COMMISSIONER'S SALES November 25, 2014
Pursuant to and compliance with the Judgment and Order of Sale of the Powell Circuit Court, The Commissioner will offer for sale at public outcry, to the highest and best bidder on November 25, 2014, beginning at the hour of 9:00 a.m. local time, at the Courthouse Door, Stanton, Kentucky property described in the action set out below. Said property shall be sold to raise the amounts hereinafter set forth, together with interest and the costs of the action, and upon the following terms and conditions.
(A) At the time of sale the successful bidder shall either pay cash or make a deposit of ten (10%) percent of the purchase price with the balance on credit for thirty (30) days UNLESS OTHERWISE SHOWN AT THE END OF A PARTICULAR SALE. Or the purchaser shall have the privilege of paying all or a greater portion thereof than ten percent (10%) at the date of purchase or of prepaying the balance of the purchase price with accrued interest. In the event the successful bidder desires or elects to credit the balance, he or she will be required to post bond and furnish an acceptable surety thereon. Said bond shall be for the unpaid purchase price and bear interest at the rate of twelve (12%) percent per annum from the date of sale until paid. The bond shall have the force and effect of a judgment in order to secure the payment of the balance of the purchase price and said bond shall constitute a prior and superior lien on the property until paid. No bond or earnest money shall be required in the event that the Plaintiffs hereto shall be the purchasers and the bid is less than their adjudged lien.
(B) The purchasers shall be required to assume and pay all taxes or assessments upon the property for the 2014 taxes and all subsequent years. All taxes or assessments upon the property for prior years shall be paid from the sale proceeds. The property shall further be sold subject to any delinquent State, County and /or City real estate taxes sold pursuant to the provisions of KRS Chapter 134 to any private purchaser during the pendency of this action.
(C) The property shall otherwise be sold free and clear of any right, title and interest of all parties to the action and of their liens and encumbrances there on, and all existing liens recorded after the recording of the plaintiff's Lis Pendens Notice; excepting and subject to however, easements, restrictions, stipulations and covenants of record in the Powell County Court Clerk's Office, any facts which an inspection and accurate survey of the property may disclose, and any assessments for public improvements levied against the property.
(D) Purchasers shall not be entitled to the possession of the real estate until the Court's confirmation of the sale and the payment in full of the purchase price and delivery of the deed unless the Plaintiffs' are the purchasers.
(E) Risk of loss of the improvements of the real property shall pass to the purchaser or purchasers at the time of sale. The successful bidders may, (unless otherwise stated at the end of a sale) from the date of sale until the purchase price is fully paid, carry fire and extended coverage insurance on the improvements on such property to the extent of the court appraised value of said improvements or the unpaid balance of the purchase price, whichever is less, with a loss clause payable to the Special Master Commissioner of the Powell Circuit Court.
(F) Upon default of the payment of the deposit or posting of bond by the purchaser, the Special Master Commissioner shall immediately re-sell the property upon the same terms and conditions set out herein.
(G) If the total purchase price is not paid in cash, the ten percent (10%) deposit made by the purchaser shall be applied to any expenses incurred by a default of the purchaser
FURTHER INFORMATION REGARDING THESE SALES CAN BE FOUND IN THE POWELL CIRCUIT CLERK'S OFFICE BY THE FILE NAME AND NUMBER LISTED FOR EACH SALE. PROSPECTIVE BIDDERS ARE ADVISED AND ENCOURAGED TO CHECK THIS, THE REFERENCED DEED IN THE POWELL COUNTY CLERK'S OFFICE AND THE PROPERTY EVALUATOR'S OFFICE FOR MORE DETAIL. THE SPECIAL MASTER COMMISSIONER WILL HAVE NO ADDITIONAL INFORMATION NOT CONTAINED IN THESE OFFICES, THE SALES WILL PROCEED ONE RIGHT AFTER THE OTHER COMMENCING AT THE APPOINTED HOUR.

PCSO: Man arrested for stealing from dad

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

One would think that selling stolen items to a pawn shop is not a great idea, but then again stealing is not such a bright idea either. According to the Powell County Sheriff's Department a Clay City man is now facing charges for doing both.

Powell County Deputy Marty Tipton arrested Dillon Meadows last Wednesday after an investigation into some stolen tools. The tools belonged to Dillon's father.

Tipton was able to locate a saw and saw stand belonging to Meadows' father at Layton's Pawn Shop in Mount Sterling. The store's records indicated that Meadows sold the items to the shop on Nov. 4. That was the day the thefts reportedly occurred.

During a follow-up interview Tipton's report stated that Meadows admitted to taking the saw and stand from his father's house. The value of the two was listed as $600.

Meadows, 19, was arrested and charged with theft by unlawful taking $500 or more but under $10,000. He was lodged on the Powell County Detention Center.

All persons on the docket and all arrested are presumed innocent until proven guilty in a court of law.

Qualified

The Stanton Police and Clay City Police Department conducted one of our two biannual weapons qualifications. Each year, in the spring and fall, officers must prove proficiency with their department issued duty weapons through several scenarios of firing their weapons. We are happy to report both departments officers passed qualifications in the 90th percentile and above.

We would like to thank the Red Rivers Bow Hunters Club for the use of their facility in order to maintain our weapons proficiency.

Clark County man arrest for DUI, doing 100 mph

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

A Winchester man driving 30 miles per hour over the speed limit on the Mountain Parkway two Sundays ago wound up catching the attention of the Kentucky State Police. That attention earned him a trip to the Powell County Jail.

According to Trooper Grant Faulkner's report, he spotted a silver 2014 Jeep

Compass traveling 100 miles per hour on the Parkway just after 1:30 p.m. The speed limit is 70. The driver "refused to pull over for nearly two miles" the report stated as Faulkner was following him with both emergency lights and siren engaged. The vehicle finally pulled over at Exit 22, the Stanton exit.

Faulkner found Danny R. Ledford, Jr. behind the wheel. Faulkner noted in his report that he saw "an open beer bottle in the rear passenger floorboard."

Ledford was arrested and transported to the Powell County Detention Center. He has been charged with DUI, failure to notify an address change to the department of transportation and possession of an open alcoholic beverage container in a motor vehicle.

KY Afield Outdoors: Fishing remains productive during deer season

By KEVIN KELLY
Special to the Times

Kentucky offers some of the finest deer hunting found anywhere, and the modern gun deer season stands as one of the most anticipated opportunities each year. Its allure draws many anglers away from the water in November.

"A lot of people start to put up their fishing gear this time of year and head for the woods," said Dane Balsman, urban fisheries research biologist with the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. "There are a lot of good fishing opportunities in the fall and a lot less pressure. You can have some of your best fishing this time of year."

Anglers don't have to travel far to find a productive spot.

Kentucky Fish and Wildlife started the Fishing In Neighborhoods (FINs) program in 2006 as a way to expand fishing opportunities for anglers living in the state's largest cities.

Initially limited to a handful of lakes in central and northern Kentucky, the program took off and now includes 40 lakes across the state.

In October and November, Kentucky Fish and Wildlife stocks a total of 57,000 rainbow trout in FINs lakes.

These 9- to 11-inch trout, reared at the Wolf Creek National Fish Hatchery, are eager to bite and put up a fight that often belies their size. A small in-line spinner or a 1/8-ounce spoon in silver or gold are good bets. Brightly-colored dough baits formulated for trout and corn fished on the bottom or suspended under a bobber also are consistent producers.

"Pretty basic: small hook, small bait," Balsman said. "It doesn't take much."

The newest addition to the FINs lineup is the 11.6-acre lake at Maysville-Mason County Recreation Park. It joined the program this year and received its first stocking of catfish this past summer.

"It's a pretty lake with great access all the way around it," said Balsman, who added that the lake would receive its stocking of trout this month.

FINs lakes are stocked with channel catfish and hybrid sunfish in spring and summer. The bass and bluegill populations are monitored and supported with stockings as needed.

"Those other fish are still feeding pretty heavily in November trying to pack on some pounds for the cold winter months when they're not as active," Balsman said.

Daily limits for FINs lakes are five rainbow trout, four catfish, one largemouth bass over 15 inches and 15 bluegill or other sunfish.

Anglers ages 16 and older will need a statewide fishing license, unless exempt. Licensed anglers who intend to keep their trout also must purchase a trout permit. The permit is included in the Sportsman's license and Senior license.

"If you're going to catch and release trout, practice good techniques," Balsman said. "Don't use a dry towel or step on the fish to get the hook out.

Try to keep it damp with your hands. If it swallows the hook, you're probably better off cutting the line."

Feeling more adventurous? The tailwater below Lake Cumberland's Wolf Creek Dam is a year-round fishery renowned for trout, striped bass and walleye.

"The tailwater is always good," said John Williams, southeastern district fisheries biologist for Kentucky Fish and Wildlife. "The upper part of the tailwater from the dam to Helm's Landing or Winfrey's Ferry is better in terms of numbers of trout. As you go downstream from there you usually get some big fish. I always like fishing Helm's to Winfrey's. You have good numbers and some nice-sized fish, too."

Kentucky Fish and Wildlife biologists sampled the area within the past week and found mostly rainbows around Helm's Landing and mostly brown trout down around the Burkesville area near the KY 61 bridge. Crankbaits that imitate crawfish and minnows are effective for trout. Work either with a steady retrieve or quick jerks to entice strikes.

"We also saw some nice stripers below Hatchery Creek," Williams said, "and several walleye pretty close to the dam."

Anglers should consult the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers website at www.lrn.usace.army.mil for the water release and generation schedule.

"If you like a big fish, it's probably the best place to catch a huge striper because they've got plenty to eat and the water

Marcy Anderson, southeastern fisheries district assistant biologist for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, holds a large brown trout collected during population sampling on the Cumberland River earlier this week. The river below Lake Cumberland is a world class trout fishery and one of several fishing options during the upcoming modern gun deer season, when Kentucky waters are usually deserted. Modern gun deer season opened on Nov. 8.

conditions are nice and cool," Williams said. "You never see a skinny striper in the tailwater. They're always bruisers. The walleye always look nice down there. I wouldn't say there's big numbers of either one of those but there's some and they're always in good condition. The brook trout are coming on, too."

The license year doesn't end until Feb. 28, 2015, so get out this deer season, enjoy some great fishing and get your money's worth on your fishing license.

Daylan Lowry becomes ‘Powell Sheriff for a Day’

Last Friday there was a “new sheriff in town”and his name was Daylan Keith Lowry.

Lowry got the honor thanks to winning the bid during the Kiwanis Auction to be “Sheriff for a Day.” “Co-Sheriff” Danny Rogers took Lowry around the courthouse to meet the various people who work in the offices and he even gave the “new sheriff” a tour of the Powell County Jail.

Lowry helped as Rogers had to speak with different people who came into the sheriff’s office to talk about issues and according to Rogers, Lowry even gave a few raises while he was in charge.

Lowry got to go into the courtroom and see how deputies and court security officers operate, he even met Powell District Judge Kenny Profit. Profit gave Lowry a certificate for being “Sheriff for A Day.”

Sheriff Rogers said it was quite a busy day and maybe Daylan could come back again and watch as he patrols some.

Daylan wants to go into the U.S. Marines when he gets out of school and then he wants to become a police officer. He is currently a student at Stanton Elementary.

“Sheriff” Daylan Keith Lowry and his “co-sheriff” Danny Rogers pose for a picture outside the Powell County Courthouse last Friday.

Meghan!

From your family, friends and a sneaky coach!

Happy Belated
Birthday Sarah!
